

Scorching Peak Yet To Come

Bystanders hoped Mrs. Rae Burns, 1325 Stanley, would show her prowess as a paddler. But she finally chose to swim for coolness sake off Happyland beach, Elk lake. The kayak, she thought, was too frail for a frolic. (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Today it could be even hotter than yesterday—the hottest day of the year so far.

Yesterday's scorcher hit an official high of 86 degrees, but those unlucky enough to toll in unventilated offices, restaurant kitchens and foundries swore that the boiling point was near.

Thermometers outside cigar stores and filling stations in this area soared up to 98 degrees, even in the shade.

In outlying areas, such as Prospect Lake, reports of temperatures as high as 108 degrees were phoned in, and in Langford one chicken rancher reported his chickens panting and keeling over.

BEACHES INVADDED

For thousands of shop workers, the hottest day arrived at a good time in the week. Stores closed at noon yesterday, setting off an invasion of beaches and parks.

Officially, yesterday's high was only 2.6 degrees short of the all-time record for July 18, set in 1944.

The hottest day ever experienced in Victoria—95.2 degrees—was July 17, 1941.

The heat wave stretched over most of the Island and province. Hottest corner was Lytton in the Fraser canyon which reported an official 102. Kamloops hit 98, most of the Okanagan sweltered in 90 degrees or higher and Vancouver passed the 80-degree mark.

ISLAND HIGHS

On the Island, Parksville reported a high of 90, the same as Nanaimo, where temperatures are expected to go higher today. Campbell River was a dry 90.

Light winds forecast for today will do little to bring relief and Victorians can expect another solid 15 hours of sunshine with no sign of change for at least another 24 hours.

Setting a record of sorts, the temperature jumped three degrees—from 70 to 73—between midnight and 1 o'clock this morning, the weather office reported.

Toronto's powerful Cliff Lumsdon beat arch rival Tom Park, formerly of Hamilton, by just half a stroke in yesterday's spectacular Atlantic City 25-mile marathon. Both men, and Greta Anderson, who beat them to finish line, are interested in tackling Juan de Fuca.

Britain Plans Massive Cuts In Arms Bill

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—The government was reported Wednesday working on plans to slash Britain's defence program by more than £178,500,000.

Bulletins

The navy early this morning picked up an "unidentified object" in the Gulf of Georgia which had caused "an emergency report."

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 12-year-old girl was charged with stabbing a 15-year-old girl to death with a butcher knife in the city's first bobby-sox gang slaying.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Carl Hinshaw said the recent crash of two airliners in the Grand Canyon—when 128 died—probably occurred because the two pilots were sight-seeing.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph J. Hedrick, president of Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America, is opposed to "natural gas coming from Canada to the United States for the purpose of raising Chicago and the area we serve."

MONTREAL (CP)—Three Vancouver teen-age girls, who hitchhiked almost 3,000 miles to visit a boyfriend in hospital here, were sent home Wednesday night.

Informed sources said a reduction—amounting to nearly one-eighth of Britain's £1,500,000,000 one-eighth of Britain's £1,500,000,000 defence bill this year—would be part of a general recasting of NATO strategy. They emphasized that results of the government's reappraisal of defence policy have not yet been officially considered by the cabinet.

WITHIN NATO

A government spokesman would not comment on the size of the reduction contemplated by the government. He said whatever cuts may be decided upon, Britain will stand by its international commitments. He added that final decisions about Britain's future defence spending will be taken only after full consultations inside the 15-nation Atlantic alliance.

NATO's permanent council in Paris is expected to begin fixing allied military goals and strategic aims for 1957 and 1958 by September. Three months later foreign ministers of the 15 nations are due to act on their recommendations.

AROUND WORLD

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles Wednesday forecast new reductions in the armed forces of nations around the globe, including Russia.

He told a press conference this is a "general trend," mainly because nations are relying more on atomic—hydrogen weapons and less on manpower.

A reduction of East-West tensions also is a factor, he said, because this means "there is less risk of war than was the case."

U.S. Musters Forces As Polio Spreads

CHICAGO (UPI)—National, state and city agencies yesterday joined a frontal attack on a spreading polio outbreak in Chicago.

The campaign got under way as the city board of health announced that the number of cases stood at 212, including five deaths, thus far this year. The total was the highest for the period since the recording of polio cases began here in 1911.

In Washington, a spokesman for the department of health, education and welfare said that it was in close touch with health board president Herman N. Bundesen.

The spokesman said that the department was ready to rush vaccine to the city should it be needed. Similar offers were received from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the state health department. Each has already sent additional supplies of Salk vaccine to Chicago.

from the building and sanitation departments would also pay special attention to the affected areas.

Statistics made public by the board of health indicated that the outbreak does not reflect on the effectiveness of the Salk vaccine.

Share the Flowers

Don't Disappoint Shut-Ins Tomorrow

Shut-ins at the Veterans' Hospital and St. Mary's Priory will be disappointed tomorrow unless many more blooms are offered today to The Daily Colonist's Share the Flowers plan.

A number of thoughtful gardeners already have called to say they will have flowers ready for the collection tomorrow.

But offers must come from many more gardeners if the current drive is to be as successful as those of the past.

Any variety of summer flower in small or large quantities may be counted on to bring appreciative smiles to the faces of shut-ins temporarily deprived of the pleasures of a garden. Time is fast running out for this week's collection.

Offers should be phoned to the Colonist at 3-4111 before noon today so that the blooms may be picked up and distributed at the hospitals tomorrow morning.

Margin Half Stroke

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP)—Marathon foes Cliff Lumsdon and Tom Park churned on target like twin torpedoes Wednesday night with Lumsdon lunging to victory by a fraction of a second in Atlantic City's 25-mile world championship swim.

The powerful Torontonian won by just half a stroke over the Canadian-turned-Californian in a marine photo-finish which brought a glorious end to Lumsdon's runner-up jinx in the Atlantic City extravaganza.

The winning time was nine hours and 51 minutes, half an hour slower than the record Park set in the 1954 inaugural. Park, a U.S. citizen now but a native of Hamilton, was a whisker behind at 9:51.2.

Park was the winner here in 1954 and 1955 with Lumsdon coming in as runner-up both times.

WINNER GETS $5,000

Lumsdon picked up $5,000 in prize money with his kick to victory at the end of a course that included sharks among its hazards.

But first across the finish line was Denmark's Greta Anderson, who matched the powerful Canadian-bred in stamina.

Switched to Hawaii

U.S. Hands Navy Far East Command

WASHINGTON (AP)—

The defence department, in a sweeping change, Wednesday shifted command of all United States military forces in the Far East and the Pacific to Hawaii.

It placed a navy man, Admiral Felix Stump, in overall charge. Since the Second World War, army generals have headed the Far East command.

The department said it will abolish the Far East command in Japan and move the United Nations command from Japan to Korea.

The general overhaul of its command structure will take effect next July 1 to "simplify the command and organization" of all United States forces in the Pacific-Asian areas.

The defence department said Lemnitzer's United Nations command will be retained as a separate headquarters "because of the unresolved political-military situation which has resulted only in a suspension of hostilities and a state of truce" in that country.

Tortured His Sons

'Children's Hangman' Given Five Years

MONTREAL (CP)—A five-foot father, who admitted whipping his four young sons while they hung by the neck with only their toes touching the floor, was sentenced to five years in penitentiary yesterday.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge T. A. Fontaine termed Albert Lachapelle "a brutal chapelle, 55, a 'drunken, dena-father, and a children's hang-tured father' and told him he de-man." He recalled Lachapelle had served the lash, Lachapelle wept numerous previous convictions for profusely when the judge dis-assault, including a chain-whip-played a hand-made leather whip ping of his 15-year-old daughter he used on the boys.

Judge Fontaine, overcome by who spent four months in hospital emotion at one point in his life—as a result.

Zooming Hazard Causing Concern

Rapidly increasing fire hazard on southern Vancouver Island has caused anxiety throughout the area fire-fighting organization.

These decisions were announced last night: Sidney, Saanich and B.C. Forest Service have banned burning permits entirely;

Central Saanich will only issue permits in circumstances which allow of no risk;

Victoria and Esquimalt will permit burning under close restrictions.

Identity Unknown

On Bottom for Third Time, Boy Dragged from Lagoon

A teen-age visitor from Alberta was rescued from drowning last night as he went down in the waters of Esquimalt lagoon for the third time.

Identity of the youngster, about 13, and the rest of his party remained unknown late last night, but W. V. Matthews, 27-year-old truck driver of 928 Bay street, told this story.

He, with his wife, baby daughter and mother and father, had been at the lagoon to "cool off" and were preparing to return home about 8 p.m. Several youngsters had been running around and yelling, and suddenly his mother, Mrs. Matthews, saw that one lad was in the middle of the lagoon, thrashing around and screaming.

"Mother screamed for somebody to rescue him, as he had already gone under twice," Mr. Matthews said. "I tore off my clothes as I ran and another man also ran in."

They reached the boy as he went down again in over six feet of water and hauled him out. Emergency treatment was given and Mr. Matthews advised them to report the near-tragedy to the Colwood detachment of the RCMP. He failed to get the names of the people concerned, but knew that his co-rescuer was of the same party as the boy.

"It was just lucky for the lad that mother saw him, because the people in the other car were out of sight of where the boy was in trouble," Mr. Matthews said.

Colwood RCMP said it had been reported that a car of the description building had stopped at their headquarters. All officers of the detachment, however, were out on other calls.

Catholic Traffic Criminals May Be Banned by Church

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church is considering ecclesiastical punishment for persons found guilty of having caused traffic accidents, Prof Pio Ciprotti, a canon law expert, says.

Ciprotti made the statement in an interview appearing Wednesday in L'Osservatore Della Domenica, a magazine published in the Vatican.

Last week the magazine appealed for "Christian conscience" to halt the rising toll of traffic deaths. It declared the Fifth Commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," applied equally to crimes on the highways.

Ciprotti said ecclesiastical punishments could be handed drivers who avoid helping persons they injured, hide their identities, or who do not pay for damages they have caused. It could be applied to motorists driving without a licence or while intoxicated, he added.

Ciprotti declared that in the "gravest cases, such as having caused the death of a person," one could consider an interdiction from entering churches or a "personal interdiction." This is a prohibition to receive church sacraments amounting to virtual excommunication.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

TOURIST promoters would be wise to stage a "floral dance" on the streets of Victoria as the high point of a summer festival.

They could fence off a few blocks of Douglas and Government streets, chase the cars off, hire some pretty girls to fling blossoms around, and pipe band music through loud-speakers.

In addition, why not publicize the town as a summer money-maker? Douglas Falls did it, with no assets but a few million gallons of water.

Jack McClelland, executive vice-president of the Toronto publishing firm McClelland and Stewart, was in town yesterday to clear the decks for the B.C. Centennial Anthology, which comes out in 1958 for the 100th "birthday" of this province.

The publishing firm also celebrated a birthday this year (the 50th). Eighty-year-old John McClelland, Jack's father, who founded the company in 1906, had another reason to rejoice: Copies of the first volume of Winston Churchill's "History of the English-Speaking Peoples" were rolling off his presses. The book was published simultaneously in Britain, Canada and the United States.

Contract for Canadian rights to the book was signed in 1939. The manuscript had rested in the McClelland, Stewart vaults since 1940, when the distinguished author completed it.

On second thought, "manuscript" may not be the correct word. Sir Winston Churchill employs his own private compositor to set his material in type before it goes to a publisher.

An American visitor once asked Sir Winston whether this process was expensive.

"Young man," Sir Winston replied, "everything I do is expensive."

Second volume of the history will be out this fall. The author has completed the third volume, and is working on a fourth.

Some boys make a summertime pastime of jumping on and off the steps of the horse-drawn tally-hos as they move through town. The drivers, busy handling the horses and passing out humorous misinformation to the paying clients, haven't time to brush off the hitch-hikers. Maybe they will add an extra man to the crew.

Garden Notes

Heart's Ease Ever Popular

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

With the wide range of colors available these days, the old-fashioned pansy must rank among our most treasured bedding plants.

Add to this the fact that the plant will bloom almost continuously from May to November, providing that the faded flowers are picked off regularly. It is easy to see why the humble "heart's ease" holds first place in the affections of so many gardeners.

SOW IN JULY

To obtain healthy plants which never fail to produce an abundance of large, beautifully colored blooms, I make my principal sowing of hte year in boxes of soil in the coldframe during the last half of July.

I use a soil mixture with lots of leaf mould and sand in it, and I prefer a frame to the open ground simply because I find it easier to give the little plants the mottled or dappled shade they prefer. I don't use the glass lights or covers for the frame, but use an arrangement of jars spaced 1 1/2 inches apart, which keeps narrow bands of sunlight moving across the seed bed all day.

TWO INCHES APART

When the seedlings are large enough to handle, they are transplanted, again into boxes, but two inches apart this time, and kept in the frame to enjoy their dappled sunlight. Plenty of water is required through the summer, and a tiny pinch of permanganate of potash crystals in the watering can helps to keep down diseases among the baby plants. Pansies are a lot harder than most people suppose, and I find they stand up under our winters surprisingly well most years. I plant mine out in a nursery bed in October, spacing them eight inches apart, where they remain until early spring, when they are transferred to their flowering quarters.

WINTER IN OPEN

The plants could, of course, be wintered in the coldframe, but it seems to me that I get sturdier specimens when they spend the winter in the open. Besides, I need the space in my frame for the more perishable plants.

In their flowering quarters, pansies like a rather coarse and open-textured rooting medium, which I secure by adding coarse sand and half-rotted leaves to my loamy garden soil. I usually work in a cupful of bone meal to each square yard of panny bed when the ground is being prepared.

STEMS WEAK

The book says I should take cuttings from any exceptionally fine specimens which turn up in a mixed bag of pansies from seed. From time to time I have played around with panny cuttings, and while I have never had any particular difficulty in getting them to root, the plants have invariably been a disappointment. The stems are weak and spindly and the blooms far inferior to those raised from seed.

Offers $1,000

First prize of $1,000 will be awarded for the best unpublished contribution to British Columbia Centennial Anthology, which will be published in 1958 to mark the province's 100th anniversary.

Jack G. McClelland, executive vice-president of the publishing company, announced the award in Victoria yesterday.

The second prize will be $500. In addition, all accepted material will be paid for at a minimum of four cents a word. A minimum of $25 will be paid for verse. Payment will be made on publication.

The 500-page, 150,000-word anthology will contain 24 pages of photographs in two columns and fit any of the four categories.

Manuscripts, typed double space on one side of the paper, must be sent to "The B.C. Centennial Anthology Committee,"

Box 1026, Victoria, by January 31, 1957.

The anthology is open for fiction, historical non-fiction, current non-fiction and other material.

The book will be printed in British Columbia. The first printing will probably be 35,000 copies.

"This will probably be the finest book about B.C. ever published," said Mr. McClelland.

The B.C. Centennial committee yesterday gave the book its official stamp of approval.

Editorial board comprises Roderick Haig-Brown; Seth Halton, publisher of The Daily Colonist; Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times; Bruce Hutchison, Eric Nicot and Barry Mather.

Pair Pay $25.84 For Meal, Extras

NANAIMO — Two Swiss immigrants found that meals are more expensive than they had first thought.

It cost the pair of them $12.92 each for just an ordinary meal at the Plaza Hotel. This included tax, fines for attempting to evade payment for the meals, and police court costs.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts said in police court yesterday it might well have cost them $50 each had he chosen to impose the maximum fine.

MISUNDERSTANDING PLEA

The cafe-jumping pair were Earl Nussbaum and Arnold Rohrer. Rohrer appeared for his friend, as Nussbaum is unable to speak English, and told the court that each thought the other had settled the cheque.

Plaza Hotel cashier Edith Danes put a different interpretation to it, however, when she said Rohrer left the cafe first and had his car started and the engine running when Nussbaum "almost ran out of the door." Mrs. Danes took the number of the vehicle as it drove away.

Rohrer handed over $2.52 which covered the cost of the meals. Plaza manager Harold Lind before the magistrate imposed fines of $7.50 and $4 costs in each case.

People's Party Returned

ACCRA, Gold Coast (Reuters) — Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah's ruling Convention People's party Wednesday won the Gold Coast parliamentary election with a reduced majority—but probably large enough to ensure early independence for the British colony.

With two of the 104 seats still to be decided, the Convention People's party had 68 seats, the Northern People's party 15, the National Liberation Movement 12, and other opposition parties 6.

By obtaining a clear margin of at least 16 seats over all opposition, the CPP seemed headed for the "reasonable majority" required for the new assembly to pass a motion asking Britain for independence.

The term "reasonable majority" was used by Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd when he suggested a general election to settle the colony's constitutional problem.

New Beacon Saves Life In 'Live' Test

LONDON (CP) — A British-designed miniature radio homing beacon, which is expected to go into operational use with the RCAF later this summer, has successfully passed its first "live" test.

Called Sarah, which stands for search, rescue and homing, the equipment consists of a transmitter, which sends radio impulses to guide rescuers to airmen down at sea or in rough land areas.

Tuesday a helicopter flew through dense fog off the east coast of England to rescue the pilot of an RAF Hunter jet fighter after he had been forced to bail out into the sea.

An RAF spokesman said the equipment worked "perfectly."

"The helicopter was able to home right to the pilot in the water despite the fog. The equipment undoubtedly saved the pilot's life."

The air ministry described the rescue as the "first real test of Sarah."

Last February the RCAF placed an $800,000 order for Sarah equipment.

The homing equipment, normally attached to the parachute of a pilot, is expected to prove particularly useful in uninhabited or unmapped areas such as are found in Canada's northern regions.

A two-way speech unit enables the stranded pilot to talk to the search aircraft after it has "homed" to his immediate vicinity.

Forces Cut Too Late
St. Laurent Tells Reds

OTTAWA (BUP)—Russia's recently announced intention to cut its armed forces by 1.2 million men would have produced greater satisfaction throughout the world "had there been such a reduction at the time the western powers were making their reductions in armaments 10 years ago," Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told Russian premier Nikolai Bulganin yesterday.

The prime minister's sharply worded comment was contained in a letter tabled in the Commons. It was a copy of one sent Bulganin last Monday, via the Russian ambassador here, in reply to the Soviet premier's June 6 letter to the leaders of Canada, Britain, the United States, France,

West Germany, Italy and Turkey—all NATO members.

Bulganin called attention to the announced Soviet cut. He urged the western nations to follow suit.

The prime minister said that, despite the cut Russia would still have armed forces which "greatly exceed in numbers" those of the west. Mr. St. Laurent emphasized also that "we cannot accept the charge that neither ourselves nor the western powers have been making any effort to bring about disarmament."

Mr. St. Laurent said the disarmament commission of the United Nations "has not achieved great material results up to the present time."

All Simonds' Charges Denied

OTTAWA (BUP)—Defence Minister Ralph Campney issued a blanket denial in the Commons Wednesday to recent charges by Lt. Gen. Guy Simonds, retired army chief of staff, that national defence headquarters is badly organized and that top officers can't get their ideas through to the cabinet.

Campney's reply to Simonds' charges, which were published recently in Maclean's magazine, came during examination of his 1956-57 spending budget of some $1,700,000,000.

Campney told the House Wednesday that the charges by Simonds "are expressions of opinion only and not necessarily statements of fact." He said that he had "no quarrel with General Simonds... nor did I have in the past."

"Our relations were always of the best," Campney said.

All chiefs of staff, he noted, are members of the joint chiefs of staff committee and of the defence council. They also attend meetings of the cabinet defence committee and participate fully in discussions of military policy, he said.

The running of a modern defence department, he added, has become "so complex and so expensive... that it has interfered, and necessarily so, with the independence of some chiefs of staff."

However, Campney said, none of the chiefs of staff are interfered with when it comes to the

The cabinet defence committee, headed by the prime minister, holds its meetings with the chiefs of staff on hand, he said. The views of the chiefs of staff "are always listened to particularly very fully" before the committee makes any recommendations to the full cabinet, he added.

Khrushchev Off
On Secret Trip

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev left Moscow by plane yesterday on an unpublished mission.

There was no announcement of his destination. His plane flew off toward the east.

Khrushchev came to the central airport with other Soviet leaders to bid farewell to the East German government delegation which came to Moscow for top-level talks.

At a farewell banquet for the German visitors Khrushchev made a rigorous attack on the western world. He derided their concepts of free speech, press and elections and said "nothing could tempt us to join in the so-called free world."

Also on hand to see the East Germans off were Soviet premier Nikolai Bulganin, foreign minister Dmitri Shepilov, defence minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov and former premier Georgi Malenkov.

Twenty minutes after the East Germans took off for Berlin, Khrushchev boarded a twin-engine Soviet passenger plane alone and flew off eastward.

Khrushchev delivered his scathing attack on the western world and its ideas of democracy at a glittering reception for the visiting east German delegation in the great Kremlin palace. His audience included members of the diplomatic corps and western newsmen in addition to Soviet and Communist dignitaries.

"A free world, in the opinion of the monopolists, is one where there is freedom to plunder the people and everything can be run according to the will of the monopolists," Khrushchev said in an impromptu speech.

Khrushchev said that "the Bourgeois leaders' claim that Russia has no freedom of the press and added that the "falsity of such an assertion is obvious."

"A free world, in the opinion of the monopolists, is one where there is freedom to plunder the people and everything can be run according to the will of the monopolists," Khrushchev said in an impromptu speech.

Asking for Trouble

Will you please enlighten me as to what exactly is the point in these endurance contests?

Are they for personal notoriety or monetary gain?

Some half-witted fool played a piano for 72 hours until his fingers bled and he was paralyzed in one leg.

Amy Hildand swam herself into semi-unconsciousness: a noble endurance test, but to what purpose other than endangering her own health?

And little Marilyn Bell, Canada's darling, is asking for trouble in later years. I have no doubt she'll conquer the strait, but how much later on will she have to pay for it?

Reluctant Meters

As a native of Victoria and now just another one from "across the line" I'd like to make a comment about your parking meters.

We parked in front of one on lower Yates street and after trying two nickels, kicking the meter and banging it with my hand, finally got it in and the crank after quite a struggle, eventually turned.

Why can't the City of Victoria have some up-to-date meters and some that operate as they should?

My Aunt, who still lives in Victoria, had the same experience, but since she isn't as strong and didn't kick it as I did, she left her car parked by it with the impression that since it wasn't working, there would be no violation. She was given a ticket and had to pay for the so-called "violation."

Rescuers Thanked

On behalf of my family and myself, I would like to thank everyone who helped in my rescue at Elk Lake last Sunday evening. I will sure keep others in return whenever I can.

We also appreciate the phone calls and kind enquiries from so many people, and the press. Thanks a million, everyone.

Unnecessary Tax

If Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, in his quaint Pickwickian confusion over financial statistics regarding the province's redressive surpluses, could or would just stop the personal sales tax, it would be enough to revive the infatuated sales tax (rightly purchase tax) which he himself increased, one might get a clearer vision of his imaginary ultra-modern disguise in the continuance of a very ancient, and still unjust, form of tax levying, which by his own personal accounting of the province's amazing prosperity is so utterly unnecessary and which is causing such hard ship for the "little" people.

Accident Verdict

Cyclist's Crash Death Avoidable, Jury Told

A witness in an accident told a coroner's jury yesterday a cyclist might have avoided a collision if he had continued straight ahead rather than suddenly turning left.

The jury termed "accidental" the death of Reginald F. Minnick, 68, of 2526 Fifth, in a collision at Bay and Blanshard. Injured July 6 at 4:50 p.m., the cyclist died in hospital July 14.

SKULL FRACTURE

St. Joseph's hospital pathologist, Dr. Douglas Roxburgh, said the cyclist suffered a skull fracture and brain hemorrhage.

Car driver Roderick Graff, 1613 Belmont, said he pulled away from a Bay street stop sign when traffic cleared. He saw the cyclist approaching on his left along Blanshard, about 100 feet away, but believed he had time to clear the intersection.

"The next I knew he was coming at me," Mr. Graff said.

Police said the car was struck on the left rear.

LEFT SWING

BCE bus driver Russell MacDonald, approaching Graff's rear, said the car was half through the intersection when the cyclist entered and then suddenly swung left, colliding with the vehicle. It was his opinion the cyclist would have avoided the vehicle if he had not turned when he did.

The jury deliberated 55 minutes, recalling several witnesses, and was itself recalled by the coroner, Dr. E. C. Hart, for clarification of its duties.

"THE MILKY WAY"

Mr. Gibson, who owns the Gibson factory in the eastern States, is quite a boy. After his designers had created what they thought was the perfect refrigerator, he kept it under wraps until he returned from abroad. Came the big day for unveiling. He opened the door, then watched it shut by itself. He liked that. He opened it again, and he thought the new Cool Camero Cream finish satisfying. He pulled down the freezer door, and he would do it would hold 40 lbs. He examined the hinges and door latch and nodded his approval. He also gave the nod to the glamor gold color the shelves, and he liked the bigger look-thru window. Then he slammed the door, and said "Junk! The Whole Thing!" The designers and engineers were flabbergasted, but said "Junk it is!" Mr. Gibson? "Surely, it won't sell," he bellowed, "get rid of it, chuck it out. It won't sell, these are the days of hard competition. I want you to get rid of all those MILK BOTTLES, get 'em outa there, 'cause they take up all the space." Back to their drawing boards crept the poor souls, but they didn't quit. They phoned their wives that they wouldn't be home for supper, and they didn't know WHEN they'd be home. If you'd like to see just HOW they got rid of the milk bottles, (I still keep 'em) drop in our warehouse eh? They also solved the problem of how to get this big 10 cu. ft. job in only 21 inches of space. We have solved the problem of how to give you what Mr. Gibson wanted, the lowest-price history.

Boundary Waters Talks Near

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiations are in progress to determine the date of an initial meeting between Canada and the United States on control of waters flowing across the international boundary. External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday.

The forthcoming study of international waters—first in 18 years by Canadian and American engineers—was announced in Ottawa and Washington May 23. Aim of the study is to find a solution to apparent problems which have arisen in the development of the St. John River in New Brunswick, the Columbia in British Columbia and the Yukon River.

Mr. Pearson told David Fulton (PC—Kamloops) in the Commons that no date has been set for the first meeting. However, he said talks now are in progress in an effort to set a date.

Northern Affairs Minister Le Sage, replying to another question by Mr. Fulton, said the composition of Canada's delegation has not yet been determined.

B.C.-Wide Safety Education Program Sought

By BILL MAYOR

A request for provincial leadership to begin a B.C.-wide safety education program, including highway traffic, will be made Friday to Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

Union safety director John T. Atkinson said yesterday the International Brotherhood of America believes a safety program in the province is an immediate need.

He said provincial leadership could lead to community participation on education concerning highways, homes and playgrounds.

He felt service clubs could provide leadership in communities.

Mr. Atkinson is safety director of the IWA in B.C. He is also chief of the international Road safety, Mr. Atkinson added, includes the three E's—engineering, education and enforcement of laws.

The safety director termed "excellent" the conditions in Victoria sawmills and the low accident rate during the past three months. "But we will keep the pressure on and improve," he added.

On a periodic trip here to maintain and stimulate new interest in safety, Mr. Atkinson will visit logging camps of the Victoria area during this week and next.

Logging camps' safety campaigns has not been as successful as in mills, although it is far from a failure. Conditions which contribute to accidents during summer months include the weather. Early shifts, resulting in changed hours of sleep, tend to make employees sluggish, he said.

JOHN T. ATKINSON

union-management co-operation in the United States to establish safety programs. Practices would be based on those now in effect by the union's B.C. district.

"The United States and the rest of Canada are looking to B.C. for answers to problems in safety in the forest industry," he said.

Mr. Atkinson said his request for government leadership is a "repeat," having been made previously through the attorney-general's department.

The IWA is itself swinging into a program affecting homes of its members, by education through women's auxiliaries to union locals. The program will eventually include highway safety, he said.

Riots Erupt

EAST BERLIN (NANA)—News of anti-Jewish riots in Kiev and Kharkov, with at least eight dead, have been received here from a high Communist source.

The source said mobs attacked Jews in both cities following an interview in which Russian Red party chief Nikita Khrushchev reportedly made anti-Semitic remarks.

Forest Industry Urges Policy Advisory Board

By PETER BRUTON
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Appointment of a forestry advisory committee under the chairmanship of Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan was recommended yesterday by Ronald Howard, counsel for Western Forest Management Association.

Howard said it was essential there be a very strong chairman.

"We do feel it would be an important liaison between the industry and government."

The commissioner pointed out that if the board consisted of industry appointees it would be very difficult for them to recommend anything other than what would be in their own best interests.

Howard said under the present system, with the government in charge of forest policy, it was very difficult for industry to appeal a decision.

Timber tycoon H. R. MacMillan had said: "What's the use of forming his duties, a man not appealing. We don't want to get into a fight," counsel recalled.

"If you appeal under the present system, with the government in charge of forest policy, it was very difficult for industry to appeal a decision."

Howard said under the present system, with the government in charge of forest policy, it was very difficult for industry to appeal a decision.

Insect Bombs Repel Hungry, Nosy Grizzly

Insect bombs have more uses than killing flies.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Lyons probably owe their lives to two insect bombs which were instrumental in discouraging a particularly hungry and curious grizzly bear on the Alaska highway recently.

With their four-year-old daughter, Susan, they were sleeping in their trailer when awakened one morning by a loud crash. They were more than alarmed to see the head of a grizzly at the window.

He had just smashed it with his paw.

"The window was seven feet from the ground," said Mr. Lyons, "and the back door was only held closed by a small catch."

"We yelled, but this bear was apparently not afraid of human noise . . . he wanted in!"

Mr. Lyons realized that the 16-inch carving knife he grabbed would not have had much effect.

"Suddenly we remembered our insect bombs, and grabbing one apiece, my wife and I sprayed their contents into the bear's face."

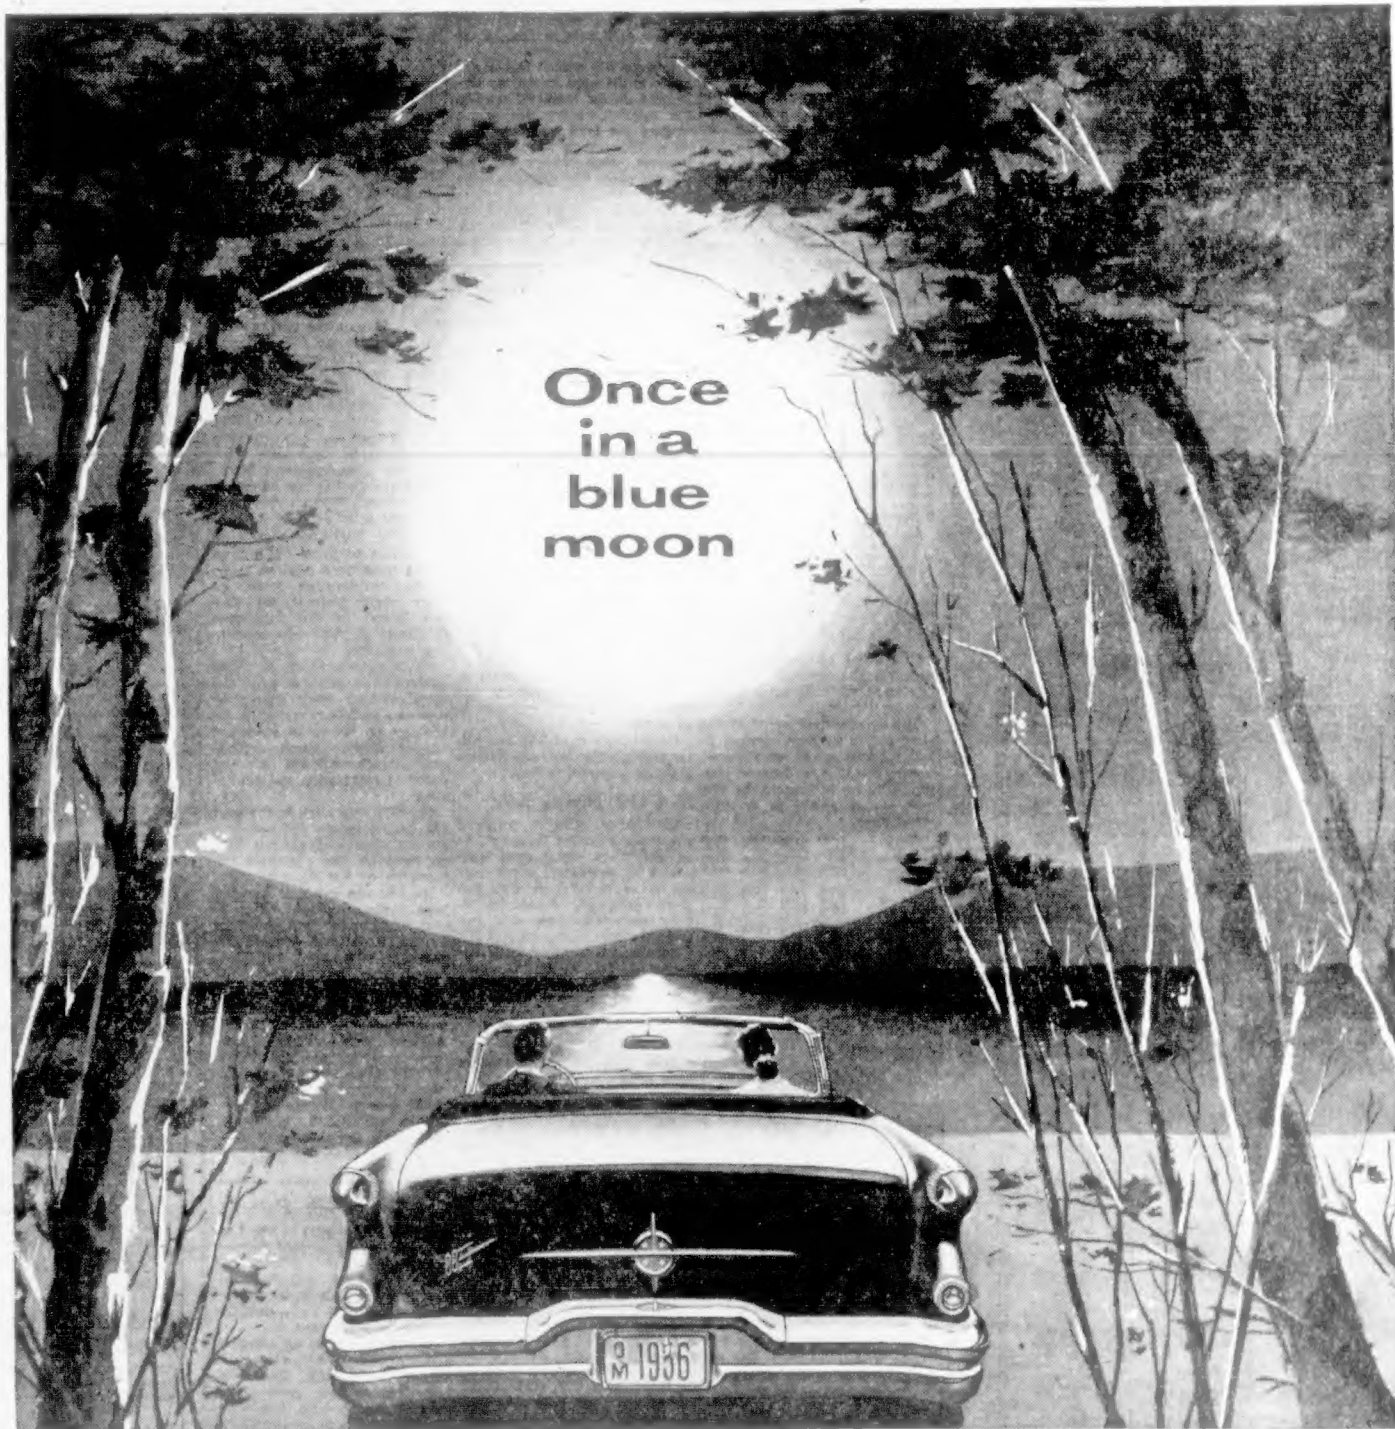

"After a moment . . . the giant trundled off down the highway. We were not bothered again."

Mr. Lyons said Susan was not in the least alarmed, just interested.

Small Rocky Mountain Creek Becomes One of Continent's Best Angling Spots

CAPTION: THE AREA OF THE A. The complex continued with heavy rain. Numerous small streams in the Rocky Mountain region have been reduced to a trickle. The area has become just a dry, flat, brownish landscape. The most striking stretch of the dried river was and south of it. The dry water in South America is a very common sight. The Rocky Mountain Creek, about 50 miles from the source of the Colorado River, is the lowest of Colorado at the state capital, Colorado Springs. The river has passed in the last 10 years and several other rivers in the region have dried up. The area is now a dry, brown landscape.

Happy, Tow-Headed Boy

Is He Hermit Of Highlands?

Has 15-year-old Clifford Sinden become the hermit of the Highlands?

That's what police suggested last night. The tow-headed youngster reported missing July 10 has actually been away from his home some time.

Two days ago for instance he was seen by a man who knows him but who didn't know he was missing, lost or runaway.

Originally he was reported missing when he failed to turn up for work at a neighbor's farm and inquiries were instituted. Then it transpired he hadn't been home the weekend of July 7-8. The employer thought he was with his mother; the mother thought he was with the farmer.

A full-scale search of the Highlands region, a wild lake-studded area, was called off last Wednesday when Clifford was seen and recognized in Victoria.

Langford's volunteer fire department chief Rod Paxley took a long ladder into the woods to try to locate Clifford at one stage, but got no answer.

How does he live? There is plenty of trout and fish and vegetables around for a self-sufficient hermit, says those who have spotted the youngster recently and his old ship still is just a little more faded, his trousers a little more tattered and his nose more a little more bloodied. But apparently he's a happy hermit.

Swimming Recruit Makes Her Debut

Strait swimmer Ute Witt has added a new swimmer to her stable of marathoners bidding for a successful Juan de Fuca Strait-crossing this year.

Working out with his principal contender Ben Laughren yesterday was 26-year-old Billie Beneshet, vacationing airline employee from Vancouver.

Billie swam strongly for three straight hours off Willows beach yesterday without a hint of being cold or very tired, Witt said.

"I think she could be an excellent contender," he said. "After all, this was her first swim in the Strait."

New Light Corduroy Makes Summer Coats

By MARIAN KAHN

A new trend in summer coats is the light corduroy. It is a soft, ribbed fabric that is perfect for the warm weather. The new coats are light and airy, and they are perfect for the warm weather. They are perfect for the warm weather.

Corduroy comes with a new nubby or knit-like surface. You'll be intrigued with the fine, soft basket-like design of another, and you will enjoy the lighter weights. A fine pinwale with 16 ribs to the inch and weighing seven ounces to the yard is a popular corduroy, but a lighter weight four ounces to the yard has 22 ribs to the inch.

Heat Destroys Vitamin C

Vegetables such as onions, beets, carrots and parsnips all make small contributions to the supply of this vitamin.

And I have found that the best source of Vitamin C is the daily diet. Although as stated yesterday, citrus fruits and tomatoes are the best source, most vegetables provide amounts of it, if properly cooked. For instance, carefully cooked, an average serving of spinach kale, broccoli or Brussels sprouts will supply about half the daily requirement of Vitamin C.

As a medium, one medium orange, a serving of half a large or small potato, cooked in its skin or a serving of spinach or turnips will account for another.

With the hot on a few minutes will do the trick. A French shallow saucepan is preferable to a smaller deep one as the cabbage cooks more quickly. Drain well and season to taste. And as you all should know by now, no soda on my account—it's murder to vitamins. These same principles work in a variety of the growing season. The best of all is a green vegetable.

to the best of my knowledge, there are some further facts about how to obtain an adequate supply of Vitamin C in the daily diet. By ROY PARRETT

"Tales of the 77th Benwal Lancers" is the title of a new adventure series to be seen on television this fall.

The program will be seen here on channel 4, Sundays at 7 p.m.

The northwestern frontier of India in the late 18th Century is the locale and period for "Tales of the 77th Benwal Lancers," one of the most promising serials to date. It relates the action-filled adventures of a British Light Cavalry Regiment assigned to the territory.

Good news for fall viewers also is the forthcoming release of more than 700 recent MGM movies, along with 900-odd short subjects, soon to be seen on local TV channels.

Television networks are bidding on some newly-filmed "spectaculars," for release in full color, including masterpieces like "The Wizard of Oz."

These features, along with new dramas now being filmed especially for TV, add up to a promising season this fall.

Have you got yourself a set of TV trays yet? They add a lot to viewing pleasure these hot days.

Many makes of TV trays are divided into sections, to hold the various stacks of a TV lunch. The trays can be prepared in advance and served in the viewing room while the family is watching some special program.

Some families have tried watching TV outdoors, on the verandah or in the garden without much success. The bright sunlight washes out the pictures on the TV screen.

Anyway, who wants to watch TV outdoors this weather?

Channel 3 viewers will be taken on a tour of Montreal's Belmont Park at 2:30 this afternoon.

Georgia Gibbs is the guest on the Dancing Party on channel 11 at 7 p.m.

Smoky Lawson is back again on channel 4 at 7:30, presenting popular songs of today.

Channel 12 fans will see the latest in boats as KYOS TV visits the Bellingham "Home and Boat Show" at 7:45.

Jane Wyman stars in "Kissin'," a top TV drama on channel 2 at 8:30.

Drama on an Abomish site unfolds on channels 11 and 12 as "Pony at Dawn" is seen at 8:30.

Canadian Physicist Warns:

Russian Nuclear Know-How To Keep West on Its Toes

By JOHN E. BIRD
CHIALE RIVER, Ont. (CP)—A top Canadian physicist just back from Moscow says Canada and the west in general will have to keep on their toes to match Russia's progress in scientific research.

The statement was made here by Dr. Elliott, director of the physics division of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., following his return from a conference on high energy physics in the Russian capital May 14 to 22.

Dr. Elliott was one of two Canadian delegates at the conference, sponsored by the Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R. The other was Prof. J. Stuart Foster, head of the radiation laboratory of McGill University.

Dr. Elliott said he was "tremendously impressed" by Russian achievements in the field of high energy physics, a narrow branch of the science of physics.

"We in Canada knew very little about what Russia was doing in the field before the conference," he said. "We came away realizing that Soviet scientists are making real progress."

"They are certainly doing very well. We've got to keep on our toes to keep up with them. They are very serious and their plans are very extensive for placing large numbers of highly-technical people in basic research."

However, he did not think the western world was falling behind in research. He merely was suggesting that the west must continue to make progress to keep abreast of the Russians.

High energy machines are used to accelerate protons to high energies such as those existing in cosmic rays. The energies are used to bombard materials to find out the basic facts about nature and the composition of matter.

Dr. Elliott spent considerable time in Moscow inspecting Russian machines used in high energy physics research. Canada has no research equipment of this very high energy, but it is understood that Canadian scientists are interested in the development of the high energy field in this country.

On completion, this machine will be the most powerful of its kind in the world. It will compare with a United States cosmotron at Brookhaven, Long Island, New York, with an energy of 3,000,000,000 electron volts and a bevatron at Berkeley, Cal., delivering about 6,000,000,000 electron volts.

Dr. Elliott said it appeared to be an obvious gesture by the Russian to encourage the exchange of scientific information with the western world.

Asked whether the energy of the machines is important, he said the higher the energy the more details the scientist can learn about the composition of matter. Even more powerful machines were being planned in both Russia and the U.S.

There was a tremendous amount still to be learned about nature. If the east and west co-operated in the field man's knowledge of nature would be learned that much quicker.

Dr. Elliott said Russian scientists are a privileged class with an exceptionally high standard of living. The Soviet government had a system of honor and reward for those succeeding at their work.

He estimated the salary received by Russian scientists is about 30 times that of unskilled workers.

Beavers Leave Banff

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—The beavers seem to be departing from Banff National Park.

Whether this is due to a shortage of food—tender willow or poplar bark—or to the federal government's programs to blow up beaver dams and rid certain lakes of predators by poisoning, is not certain.

Jim Shaw, chief fishing guide at a big resort hotel here, thinks it's because of the disappearance of normal beaver food. His assistant, Les Zarkos, believes the shift has been caused by the dam-busting and lake-poisoning projects.

AFFECTS FISHING
Norman Luxton, Indian lore expert and operator of a museum at Banff, says the beavers' food is thinning out along most of the rivers and streams in the area.

It may affect the fishing, too. Deep water created by a beaver dam is quiet and better for spawning. Wherever a beaver dam is, there is good fishing, Shaw says.

Dams are blown up by the federal government only when there is no other solution to related flooding.

Officials agree it would be a sad day when the beaver might have to be imported into the park just as fish are stocked in lakes now.

Pianist's Problems Bottles, Hairpins Artistic Hazard

CALGARY (CP)—A concert pianist making one-night stands in smaller communities faces certain hazards. For one thing, he can't be sure what condition the piano will be in.

Randolph Hokanson, of Seattle, in Calgary with his composer-wife Dorothy Cadzow, said he often gets surprises when he sits down to try out the pianos provided.

"You never know what to expect," he remarked in an interview. "Frequently, one comes across a perfectly hideous piano in a large town but sometimes a small town will have a really fine instrument. In the remote hinterlands, we found a beautiful nine-foot Steinway."

His worst experience was in a town in Texas where he was to give a concert in a high school auditorium. The most unearthly gasps and groans came from it.

"I called in a tuner. He took the thing to pieces. Out came miles of string, peanuts, hair pins, coke bottles and popcorn. When he put back the proper things, the tone was considerably improved."

On one occasion, Hokanson said he became his own tuner.

"I managed to get a tuning hammer and some of those rubber wedges that you stick in between strings. Being very inexperienced, I was so slow that I had to give up the idea of a concert that night."

Hokanson and his wife, both on the music faculty of Seattle University, are teaching at the Banff School of Fine Arts this summer.

Hungary's Top Red Quits

VIENNA (Reuters) — Mat. post Wednesday as first secretary of the Hungarian Communist party.

Rakosi said: "In view of several mistakes he had made in the past and repeatedly confessed, he did not want to hinder the Communist party any longer in its struggle to build-up socialism."

Rakosi had been closely associated with the repressive features of Stalinism. He was generally considered to be the "old course" of Stalin's days as against the "new course" announced since the Soviet dictator's death.

Rakosi, 65, has been one of the top six Communist leaders in Eastern Europe since the Second World War. The short, rotund man with a big bald head and bushy eyebrows, choice

Child Labor Charged

VANCOUVER (CP) — Child janitors are being hired to work in Vancouver office buildings, Ben Morley, business agent for the Building Employees' Union, charged Tuesday.

He told the Vancouver and Lower Mainland Labor Council that "14 and 15-year-old child labor is being hired to clean up offices at night."

Mr. Morley did not name anyone specifically in his charges.

Tenders Called Soon

Thetis Logging Likely in Fall

Tenders for selective logging in city-owned Thetis lake park probably will be called in August and the work likely will begin in September, City Engineer James C. Garnett said yesterday.

A Greater Victoria water board forester has been engaged and is carrying out a new survey to determine what timber should be cut.

"The principal objective," Mr. Garnett said, "will be to selected trees "will be scrupulously maintained," Mr. Garnett said.

Money received from the logging, by council decision, will be placed in a fund for development ment of the park. One estimate last year was that $90,000 could be obtained in the initial logging operation, and a further small amount perhaps $5,000—every five years through sustained-yield logging.

The forester is scheduled to report on his findings in two weeks. The engineer will check on the spot to make sure the findings are in accord with city council's wishes, and then will report to public works committee before tenders are called.

The successful bidder will be required to work under direct supervision of the forester so that the plan to take out only selected trees "will be scrupulously maintained," Mr. Garnett said.

Be Realistic, Frost Warns

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost said Wednesday the federal government had better get some realism into its proposals for sharing the taxpayer's dollar with the provinces or "everyone will lose."

Mr. Frost said the provinces and municipalities are the driving forces behind peacetime development.

"The needs of the provinces and municipalities should be recognized in a practical way at once. If they are not recognized, Canadian development will be retarded and everyone will lose," he said.

Here's why Ovaltine cold is the best summer drink yet!

Ovaltine mixed with cold milk is a delicious, refreshing drink and has a delightful flavour that every member of the family enjoys. Ovaltine assists you, too, in replacing the energy so freely spent in hot weather. You see, because Ovaltine is light, easily assimilated nourishment it satisfies hunger without bulk. . . . supplies your body with important food elements. Try easy-to-mix cold Ovaltine often—in either of two wonderful flavours, Chocolate Flavoured Ovaltine or Plain Unsweetened Ovaltine—at food and drug stores everywhere.
